

The people you need, when you need them, and not when you don't.

Marketing has evolved. So have your options.

Clients and talent alike are open as never before to flexible, project-based arrangements. And Freeman+Leonard is on the leading edge of expertise allocation with Talent Solutions.

Our expert recruiters understand marketing (in fact, many are former marketers themselves), so they're uniquely qualified to match the best talent to fit your specific needs. They possess the agency backgrounds, relationships and industry insights to connect the dots and people quickly.

And with our deep bench of highly vetted marketing communications professionals, we can handle every role, from strategy and planning to execution, and everything in between:
